Choral Camp Cream Still a Slick Event

Sounds of laughter and cries for help rang across campus this afternoon as campers creamed each other. It was pretty hard to walk out to the tarp and not get creamed.

Shaving cream was flying everywhere. Campers found ways to smear cream into each other's ears and into the open mouths shouting with laughter around them.

The best part about the whole mess was that everyone had fun and no one got seriously hurt.

Phyllis Swartz was overheard saying the cream is one of her favorite times of Camp because "afterward, everyone smells so clean!"

A Family Affair

With 124 campers attending choral camp, last names become quite common. If you were to stand in the lunch room and yell the name "Miller" or "Yoder," more than a dozen people would answer.

Having brothers or sisters attend camp is quite common this year, but when an entire family attends camp, it turns a few heads. This is exactly what has happened with the Millers, a family from Burton, Ohio.

Dad, Kristen, Suzanne, BJ, and Jeremy are all contributing to Choral Camp 2004 in some way. Dad, a.k.a. Courtney Miller, is serving as a host.

Kristen, Suzanne, and BJ are all working as counselors, and Jeremy is attending as a camper.

Camp Pastor Turns 52!

Although he is now officially an old man, Camp Pastor Conrad Showalter spent three weeks this summer exploring the lands of Cambodia and Vietnam. Along with his wife, son and daughter-in-law, he was visiting his daughter-in-law's relatives. The visit was at the beginning of the rainy season, and they received daily downpours. The family was also able to tour Angkor Wat, the largest city of religious ruins in the world.

By the way, if Pastor Showalter is 52, can you figure out what year he was born?
—Michelle Shroyer

Q: "What is the only purpose for a child's middle name?"

A: "So she can tell when she is in trouble!"

What is this?

"That's a car . . . those are . . . I have no idea . . . okay, that's two trees and this is the road and that's all I see." —Fidelia Renne, camper

"Dion in a pre-Model T driving into a rain storm without lights and he is about to crash into a tree." —Conrad Showalter, 52-year-old pastor

"July 6, 1952, and Conrad's father is driving away after seeing his new son." —Dion Gingerich, aggrieved counselor

"A little lady in a golf cart driving really fast in a path of trees." —Justin Horst, camper
