HOW THE UNICYCLE WAS INVENTED A Moroccan tale of two donkeys — told in two parts

It was a hot, hot day in the city of Fez, Morocco. The year was 1843 and Hicham the donkey's great-great-great-great-great grandfather, Micham, had entered the Annual Tour-de-Fez Bicycle Race. If Micham won the race, he would win a gold medal and as many apples (a donkey's favorite fruit) as he could eat.

However, Micham had an enemy named Umayyad, the meanest donkey in all of Morocco. When Umayyad wasn't stealing apples and hay from the other donkeys, he was busy inventing ways to make Micham's life miserable.

So when Micham heard that Umayyad had entered the race, he was a bit shaken. The last time the two of them raced, Umayyad took a stick and stuck it in Micham's bicycle wheels, making Micham collapse in a dusty heap of wheels, hoofs, ears, and handlebars. Micham lost the race and got a nasty bruise on his tail.

Micham had no idea what Umayyad's plan was for this race, but he was sure it wasn't going to be nice. The bicyclists lined up on the starting line and put their hoofs to the pedals.

"Ready! Set! RACE!" shouted the announcer, as he fired the starter's pistol and spooked half the crowd.

Micham and Umayyad pedaled hard off the line, passing famous French racing donkey Lance Hoofstrong after just a few minutes. Micham and Umayyad were neck and neck as their ears and tails flapped in the wind. Micham pulled ahead slightly on the second turn, but Umayyad quickly caught up.

And that's when Micham noticed an odd noise. (To be continued...tomorrow!)

The Places We'll Go!

By Mark Yoder, Travel Writer

Indonesia is a very different country than the United States. It is made up of 17,000 islands, and doesn't have any mainland like the US (the mainland is the big part that doesn't include Hawaii or Alaska).

Indonesia is a Muslim country, like Morocco, but a long time ago it was Buddhist, and there are still some Buddhist monks that have temples there.

In culture class we'll get to see some things from Indonesia with Andrea Gingerich, who went there last year with REACH. She'll show us different types of instruments and let us play with them (carefully).

In Indonesia it's hot all year long and they don't get any snow. That means no sledding and no snow days, but it also means no winter coats or slippery, dangerous roads.

If you could go to Indonesia, what would be the coolest thing to see: a volcano, an elephant, or people running around in shorts in January when everyone is freezing back home?

Hicham's great-great-great-great-great grandfather, Micham, always wore a helmet while racing.

A message from Debbie Hochstedler

Welcome, campers!

This morning Choral Camp was quiet and still as I walked from my apartment to the chapel. I looked around the empty sidewalks as I unlocked the doors.

Just a few hours later, I came from the dorms and smiled to see the hustle and bustle of everyone moving in and unpacking.

The sidewalks were full and I had to walk around groups of you meeting new friends and greeting friends from other years as well. The doors were standing wide open and I was able to squeeze in around a group loaded down with ice packs and shaving cream.

I like when you get here...you make everything exciting! And you bring Choral Camp with you! This week as you smear shaving cream, sing choir songs, and skate around the rink, remember to do something very important. Remember to exalt God. Let's make Choral Camp come alive with our praise!

RYAN GRABER, CHORAL CAMP ARTISTE, OR EE-VIL POSSUM HUNTER?

Interview by Amanda Weber

How many years have you gone to Choral Camp?

This is my fourth.

What was one of your most embarrassing moments here?

My guitar string broke while helping to lead worship once.

What is your favorite food served at camp?

The blueberry muffins.

Who is your favorite person to cream in the shaving cream fight?

Camp pastor Elmer Miller, because it encourages him to think that he might actually have something to shave.

What do you think of the mascot?

One time I was holding Hicham during a meeting and stroking him; he sheds because my sweatshirt was covered in Hicham hair. I think he's part cat. Tell us an interesting story from the camp past.

I once chased a possum: after dorm time one night, I heard something in the laundry area. I walked in to see a possum looking up and smiling at me; he turned around slowly and waddled away.

For the next fifteen minutes, a friend beat the bushes with a broom while I waited with a bat.

[Editor's note: No possums were injured in the writing of this story.

Nor do we approve of beating little possums with bats.]

The next time the possum was seen was when Kara found it coming out of a room after waddling into the girls' dorm in broad daylight.

Ryan directs the show last week, shaving cream style.

What is your favorite place on campus? The Reading Room, because it's the one place I never get to go.

What color do you think the next t-shirts should be? Glow-in-the-dark!

Find the hidden treasure!

Follow the clues in The Record on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and FIND the treasure on Thursday morning! The treasure WILL NOT BE AVAILABLE until Thursday morning.

When you think you know where to find it, get a counselor to go with you. That's a must!!!!
