A note from a counselor...

What a privilege it is to be a counselor at Choral Camp again this year. It is exciting to see the enthusiasm of the children as they head to music class. Of course, the shaving cream at get wet time was another big hit this year. Yesterday was a fun but tiring day at COSI. Yet this morning at 7:30 a.m. I heard children playing their recorders in the game room (It sounded pretty good for the most part).

There are so many different ways in which we can praise God, and this week I have seen a lot of creativity in the children and how they express their love for God.

On Monday, before check-in time even started, I was blessed to see an eight-year-old girl curled up on a couch reading her Bible. Another day a girl shared with me how she and her roommates had already seen God answer their prayer concern. She told me, "God is so awesome." And indeed He is. It has been a blessing to be at Choral Camp 2000!

Quotables

“You know, I wish I could stay here forever... especially with this cake we had for lunch.”

- Nicole Steiner

“I like doing trays... I think I'd rather be a counselor.”

- Shari Martin

“Who are those old ladies? I know, one of them is Elizabeth.”

- said of a camper in disguise visiting halls last night

“There was an old woman who lived in a shoe. And had so many children she didn't know what to do. So she game them all broth without any bread. Then spanked them all soundly and sent them to bed.”

- April the counselor

“I wish Choral Camp could last forever and ever.”

- a camper

“But what about your parents?”

- a counselor

“Oh, they could visit us sometimes.”

- camper

“I grew up in my house!”

- David the counselor

“Are you Mozart?”

- Phyllis Swartz

“No, my name's not Mozart!”

“What was your blondest moment at Choral Camp?”

“During the persecution game I ran into the boy's bathroom and...uh...there was a guy in there.”

- anonymous girl

“I slipped and fell in the shower. It was so loud that it sounded like a door slamming.”

- Malissa Keesic

“A metal bunk fell on my head and I started laughing.”

- Parla Cline

“When I said something really stupid in choir.”

- Lemuel Yutzky

“Let's see... It would be the bullhorn thing. When I yelled the wrong instructions into the bullhorn.”

- Steve Christophel

“I fell into the dorm” (as opposed to walking) “with a bunch of friends watching.”

- Holly Yoder

“I didn't have a blond moment, but I told a funny joke!”

- Rachel Bender

Room Check Ratings

Strauss has played a symphony,
Beethoven's way off key,
And Bach? he's still out of tune,
With Mozart and Handel's melody.

When pop and mom come on the scene,
Will the discord be reversed?
Or will room checks still ring loud and clear,
Same song -- just a different verse?

- Gertrude
