A really, really funny joke told at Choral Camp

In what was probably one of the more hilarious moments at Choral Camp, a camper told a really, really funny joke.

“What made it so funny was the combination of the disgusting and the musical that the joke had,” said music director Ken Miller.

“It fit the ethos of Choral Camp in a very unique and appropriate way. I really don’t think that a funnier joke exists out there,” said Miller.

The joke was: “What is Beethoven doing today?” And the answer was: “Decomposing.”

... that students at Rosedale stay up all night long several times a year to play in volleyball tournaments? They also play basketball, football, indoor soccer, and frisbee after their classes. If you want to stay up all night to play volleyball or Rook make sure to come to Rosedale in about a decade.

Choral Camp goes skating

by Julie Vandermeer

It is 1:45 p.m. and we are heading for the Skate Palace in Marysville. Everyone was looking forward to a couple of hours of fun. I was so proud of our group, especially the way the counselors were assisting the beginners. Way to go counselors! It turned out to be another adventure for Choral Camp.
