Super Games Are Super Fun

Clouds and thunder threatened to rain on the parade today, but God was gracious and allowed the fourth annual Super Games to be as much fun as ever.

Storm bands actually crossed from west to east just north of Rosedale and just south of it. On campus, the clouds helped to keep the vinyl fabric from getting quite so hot in the sun.

JOKE OF THE DAY

Q: Why did Beethoven get rid of all his chickens?

A: Because they kept saying "Bach, Bach, Bach."

Under Pressure, Miller Issues Apology

Music Director Ken Miller's wisecrack about Delaware, published in yesterday's Record, met with strong reaction from the twenty or more Delaware residents participating in Choral Camp. As one of them (initials C.H.) said with great feeling, "That is my home town." A petition demanding that Miller retract his statement reportedly made the rounds early today.

In a hastily called lunch meeting to ease tensions, Miller was defiant at first. "If Delaware is so important, how come it never has its own page in the atlas?" he demanded.

Miller directing the CC choir, with Delaware not distinguishable on the satellite photo of the U.S. behind him.

With amazing tact and insight, Delaware negotiator Kevin Yoder asked where Choral Camp would get all its campers and staffers if Delaware did not exist. Faced with this frightening question, Miller's tough attitude quickly changed to a repentant desire to please.

"My most deep, sincere, abject apologies to the twenty kind folks (and Kevin Yoder) from the small, but wonderful state of Delaware," he said tremblingly. "I really appreciate all their efforts to make Choral Camp a success."

"Sorry is as sorry does," Yoder retorted.

Quote of the Day

“Are you even trying to get the cleanest room award? Cuz if you are, that’s sure not the way to do it!”

—Kari Kauffman to counselor (name withheld)

Hand chimes class in the periodicals room of the library.

Parent Poll: Would you trust your campers with these counselors?

GO BUCKYES!

What is a Hemidemisemiquaver?

“It sounds like when you are a little bit nervous” — Chalee Helmuth

“Something on a piano” — Brooke Hoover

“A very strange shape” — Starla Moser

“A disease” — Eric Yoder

“A really big word” — Dawn Swartzentruber

“A big eighth note with a potbelly” — Pablo Kauffman

“A souped-up, fuel-injected, turbo-charged 16th note” — John Martin

Correct Guess:

After asking if it was a real word:

“A sixty-fourth note” — Regina Yutzy-Wolfer

Most Notes to Nurses

Wise campers really try to stay on the good side of Verna Bender and Ruth Yoder, who not only dispense medication when needed, but also determine which rooms are daily selected as best in each hall. The Record has obtained actual copies of many notes seeming to show real appreciation to the nurses/inspectors, but will let the readers judge the motives in the following notes.

“I’m writing not to persuade you [ahem!] but to congratulate you for your hard work this week. You fix our wounds, make sure we’re healthy, and remind us to keep our rooms clean. Thanks for choosing the winner wisely, and even though we aren’t the winners [maybe tomorrow? Please??!], thanks so much for judging! Without you we would be dead by now. [Is that really pouring it on, or what?☺]”

“Thank you so much for being our nurse and for keeping us healthy so we can have fun!”

“Remember: Drink lots of water!!!!”

Choir rehearsal in the library, directed by Ken Miller (see photo on page 1, if you like), a music teacher from Ohio, a state which, even though it has two pages in the atlas, Kevin Yoder left for Delaware.
