The Return of SuperGames

Today proved to be a perfect day for SuperGames 2004. The warm sunshine and cool breeze made a perfect combination. White clouds scattered across a deep blue sky—a welcome change from last week's threatening rain clouds.

Twelve stations were set up and campers were split into a dozen groups, spending ten minutes at each station. Stations ranged from giant inflatable games like obstacle courses and human foosball to waterfights, wet "pancake" stacking, and pedal car races. —Correspondent Rachel Yoder

Secret Society Active in Choose-A-Spot

The art room at Choral Camp looks innocent and safe enough. Campers have the chance to practice their skills in painting, drawing, crafts, crocheting, and creating other inventions of their own design. Art is one of the more popular activities campers can select during special times called "Choose-a-Spot."

Campers in Mozart Hall especially have been using the art room to make tissue paper flowers, tambourines, and drawings for undisclosed recipients they call Secret Sisters. The Record wonders why one would try to hide sisters.

In a scientific poll conducted especially for the Record, Art was the second favorite spot for choose-a-spot (18 votes), right behind Sports Spot (23 votes). Reading Room was third (17), Game Room fourth (16), with gym and yard games the favorite of a few. —Pollster Kara Heatwole

Caption This Photo!

Everything has a context, and this image has been (mercifully?) removed from its setting and unmercifully (we would apologize, but . . .) enlarged for effect. The truth is that the counselor pictured is watching a SuperGames event and thinking something. The question burning to be answered is what those thoughts might be. If you have an idea, put it in the Quote Box at breakfast, or email it to caption@rosedale.edu. If some good captions are submitted, they will be printed in tomorrow's Record.

Eddie: "What goes zzub, zzub, zzub?"

Kami: "A bee flying backwards!"

Quotes of the Day

“SuperGames was the best medicine we had today.”

—Nurse Ruth reporting that many campers seemed to feel much better after being asked if they were too sick for SuperGames.

“Thanks for the cookie. I had a really bad stomach ache and felt like throwing up.”

—Camper thanking Lynette for the shortbread cookies in Scotland class that made him feel so much better

“Learning is always more exciting than just vegetating.”

—Kevin Yoder in music class

What is a Ninnyhammer

“A tool to hit ninnies”

— Adam, SuperGames staff

“Hammer that girls use”

—anonymous, male camper

“Paddle used by grandmas on naughty children”

—Beth, counselor

“A fancy car”

—Quinlan Schrock, camper

ROOM INSPECTIONS

Best room on each hall:

Strauss – #4 (Jennifer Beiler, Tricia Bontrager, Brittany Lehto, Morgan Truitt) Very neat, with a display of flowers and open Bible, sweet note and candy for the nurse.

Mozart – #5 (Susannah Borisuk, Katlynn Miller, Monica Schlabach, Quinlan Schrock, Megan Troyer)

Bach – #1 (Tyler Chupp, Jordan Miller, Jordan Miller, Marshall Schrock, Spencer Schrock) 5 guys and still very neat. Impressive. but it's been reported that the whole reason is Justin Miller (OK) likes to eat and wants to go first in the food line

Handel – #12 (Blyss Barkman, Dawn Barkman, Malaina Yoder)
Beethoven – #3 (Philip Byler, Kendal Schlabach, Lincoln Schrock, Kyle Yutzy) AGAIN! And Room #2 is a close second

Best Hall – Strauss Boys are still shut out of this category. Discrimination!

Best Boys Counselor Room – Jared Kauffman, Andy Sommers, Joe Swartzentruber
Clean PLUS a nice decoration

Best Girls Counselor Room – Alisha Byler, Charity Miller, Jessica Sharp AGAIN!
