Soap Slide is Slick Summer Fun

Overcast skies did nothing to dampen the fun of this year's soap slide. Apparently there is real thrill in getting soaked with icy water on a warm day. Even better, what can compare with the sheer joy of having permission to be rowdy with a waterlogged sponge?

Sadly, the Record must report attempted harm to one of its reporters. One of its writers was innocently observing the fun from the sidelines when he was chased from the scene by a counselor with an armload of freshly soaked sponges! Happily, the reporter easily outran this aggressive pursuer, whose sponges all sailed harmlessly past their target. Ah well, so it goes!

Why is it so much fun to make a wet person even wetter?

Does Phyllis know that both of our nurses were applying lots of cold water to perfectly healthy skin?

This is why the event is called "Get Wet!"

Choral Camp Draws Artist-in-Residence

The Art Room has been a popular Choose-a-Spot according to sign-in records. This popularity is due in part to visiting artist Delores Groh's special classes, offered during Choral Camp I only. Delores is a great teacher and an experienced art instructor in the public school system. She also happens to be Mom to campers Rachel and Rebecca Groh.

Tuesday's art class, Patches, Dots, and Swirls: Paint Like a Master Impressionist was a splashing hit. Asked why she likes painting Impressionist-style, Cami Miller said, "You can do anything you want." Carrie Miller prefers it because "no details are needed." Take advantage of the final class Thursday called Face It! Secrets to Portrait Drawing. Art Room is limited to the first 20 signees.

Surveys by Beth Presents:

What is Your Favorite ? Choose-A-Spot

“Art, cuz I made a sculpture” —Courtney Bontrager

“Reading, because you have a chance to sit and calm down and relax” — Shari Martin

“Sports, because less people go to it”
—Sam Spicer

“Gym, because it’s a lot of action and it’s not usually as hot as outside” —David Graber

“I like jumprope tag because I liked learning how to play it” —Hannah Staley

“All the games in the gym move quickly”
—Micah Miller

Caught in Passing

“These guys are really learning early!”

—Conrad Showalter, commenting on attempts in the boy’s dorm to bribe the nurses with flowers and gifts

“Choral Camp has changed. We didn’t learn FA until Wednesday”

—Counselor, learning the painful truth that things just don’t stay the same

“I know! I know! It was clean when they checked it.”

—Guilty camper in Handel #3, winner for the day, when Phyllis walked into the messy room in the afternoon

CONTEST!! Design Next Year’s T-Shirts!

Campus seems to be flooded with "Island Yellow" T-shirts: Choral Camp shirts of course. Besides being a new color, this year's shirts once again sport a new design on the back. However, a crisis looms for collectors of Choral Camp shirts. Kevin Mayer, the Mayer in the world-renowned design team, Mayer and Swartz, “I’m all out of designs for Choral Camp shirts. There is not one more left in me.”

As a result of this catastrophic news, Choral Camp is announcing a competition open to all campers and counselors. Beginning today and running through the entire week of camp, Choral Camp offices will accept designs for next year's T-shirts. The winning design, along with the name of the designer, will be printed on next year's Choral Camp T-shirts!

Design ideas may be turned into the Record office at any time. Submissions must include the designer's name, home state, hall, and room number. Designs must be drawn on an 8 ½ by 11 sheet of paper (available in the art room during Choose-A-Spot) and may be in pen, pencil, marker, crayon or pencil colors, or any other medium excluding chalk. Choral Camp reserves the right to make changes to selected designs. Winners for the contest will be announced after the second week of Choral Camp and will be posted on the web at www.rosedale.edu.
