ROSEDALE, Ohio – Recent crop circles, which have appeared without explanation, proved accurate in foretelling extraRosedalian activity. Scientific experts, reticent to ascribe any particular meaning to these flickering lights and the sounds of ethereal singing emanating from the back corner of the lawn.

Preliminary reports on Sunday reported minor extraRosedalian activity, but a local hog farmer dismissed speculation on the grounds that excessive methane in the air often causes hallucinations. However, between the hours of 7:00 and 11:45 AM Monday, increased reports of flying saucers and rusted minivans hovering above the parking lot confirmed earlier speculation that an extraRosedalian invasion was at hand. Resident mascot Hicham, in an early-afternoon press conference, alerted the general public to the invasion and elaborated proper invasion procedure. Proper procedures, according to local officials, include the wearing of government-issued nametags and cheerful smiles at all times.

When pressed for details, Debbie Hochstedler, Choral Camp coordinator and noted paraRosedalian authority, said, "Yippee! They're here!" Counselors shared her unbounded enthusiasm and gleeful acceptance of the long-awaited invasion. Early reports indicate that the invasion may last up to 5 days.

Welcome to Choral Camp!

Debbie Hochstedler, Choral Camp coordinator extraordinaire.

Debbie Hochstedler debuts this week as our new Choral Camp coordinator. She brings talent, skill, and good cheer to the job, having trained for three years under the legendary Phyllis Swartz.

Here is Debbie's message to this week's Choral Campers:

Welcome! I shouldn't be surprised by now. Every year it happens this way. The campus is quiet, the dorms are empty, and the stilts are still. Suddenly, everything changes and there are campers, suitcases, shaving cream and CHORAL CAMP!

I'm so glad you are here and that you brought Choral Camp with you. This week I want you to remember to do something very important amid the art projects, choir songs and shaving cream, and that is to exalt God. Let's make this Choral Camp come alive with our praise and exaltation of God.

Planetary art for earthlings

Choose-a-Spot Art Lessons Tuesday at 10 or 11 a.m.

Create a 3-D planet sculpture using cardstock, wire, & glow-in-the-dark beads.

Center: It's about family. James Yoder, left, gets in practice for his first camp (next year) by drawing on counselor and veteran camper Matt Wolfer's face.

What's it all about?

Below left: For first-year counselor Bryan Jones, it's about upgrading to dorm life after 5 days on the Appalachian Trail!

Below right: And for some campers, it's all about attitude! How you carry yourself, how you play the game, how you wear your hat.

Jump In The Talent Pool and Be A

Do you have something unusual, intriguing, amazing, or creative that you would like to showcase? You can do just that and add a Splash! to camp this week. Sing a song, tell a joke, play an instrument, cross your ankles behind your neck—share whatever it is you do and make some waves! Campers are especially invited to make a Splash!

Talk to your hall leader to schedule your Splash! Just think – you'll get a Splash!Maker wristband.

TUESDAY'S MENU

Breakfast: Scrambled eggs, bacon, blueberry muffins, cereal, juice & milk.

Lunch: Sloppy Joes, French fries, mixed vegetables, pineapple, fudge brownie, pudding cake w/ice cream.
