

THE ROSEDALE Record

The newspaper of Choral Camp since 2000

HIGH 85 LOW 62

Partly Cloudy with chance of fun!

Friday's weather

www.rosedale.edu

Friday, July 10, 2009

Vol. 10, No. 4

Friday's Menu

Breakfast: Ham Breakfast Casserole, muffins, cereal, juice, milk

Lunch: Pigs in a Blanket, tator tots, green beans, strawberry cake with frosting

Reception: Punch, variety of cookies

Friday is Recitation Day

7:30 Wake Up

8:00 Breakfast

9:00 Session XVIII

Yellow, Orange, Red – Choose-a-Spot
Green, Blue, Black – Music Class

10:00 Chapel

10:30 Rehearsal

12:00 Lunch

12:45 Rehearsal

1:15 Dorm Time

2:00 Recitation/Reception

Super Games: Hogging All the Air?

Choral Camp music teachers made a stunning discovery Thursday afternoon. It seems that the giant constructions built on campus during Super Games in the shape of a fire engine, an upside-down cat, an obstacle course, and a human foosball court are held up by...air!

"That's my good breathing air they're using!" exclaimed choir director Kevin Yoder. "I hope I don't suffocate tonight--those things are really close to where I sleep."

Ken Miller was likewise astonished at the news. His concern, however, was more related to choir rehearsals.

"You know, it really makes sense now why the campers couldn't hit those high F-sharps in 'There Came Three Kings' this afternoon. How were they supposed to get good breath support with all of those things sucking the air right out of the sky? We've got to do something to get our air back!"

The teachers quickly worked up an action plan that involved pricking the inflatables with sharp objects to release the air, but the group couldn't decide whether scissors or knives would achieve the best results. The discussion fell apart when Accent teacher Regina Yutzy-Wolfer began staring blankly at the upside-down cat inflatable and saying repeatedly, "Meow, meow, meow, meow." Following her lead, music intern Jason Yoder gazed at the fire engine and made siren sounds, while the rest of the gathered group debated how one would pronounce "meow" upside-down.

The Record suspects that the lack of oxygen had an effect on the teacher's brains. At any rate, the plot to take back the air guzzled up by Super Games inflatables failed, and Choral Campers enjoyed marvelous weather as they bounced around on the stolen air and sprayed one another with water.

Left: Camper rides on stolen air

Bottom: Music teachers plot pricking mission

Thursday Room Inspections

Best room on each hall:

Handel - (Reygan Troyer, Alesa Good, Deanna Graber, Jessica Helmuth)

Mozart - (Danae Mast, Heather Maust, Betty Shumacher, Miranda Bender)

Strauss - (Mandy Miller, Victoria Stoltzfuz, Ruthy Schumacher, Kimberly Coblentz)

Beethoven - #6 (Josiah Murray, Ira Miller, Isaiah Muray, Christian Victor)

Bach - #6 (Corby Miller, Thomas Miller, Jesse Graber, David Dye)

Best Hall: Strauss (8 out of 10)

Tied for Worst Hall: Beethoven & Bach (6 out of 10)

Happy Birthday Nurse Evie!

What do you think the word “grave” (grah-vay) means...?

“Maybe like, bravo or somthing.”
- Eve Miller

“Gravity” - Heather Maust

“Gravey” - Amy Maust

“Grub” - Keidrick Miller

“Sounds french. Does it mean cheese?”
- Abigail Miller

“Music” - Tyler Jantzi

“Food in Switzerland.” - TJ Horman

“Either big or gravel.” - Rebecca Diller

“It sounds like somthing that has to do with sewing.” - Abigail Dye

“To get louder.” - Ellie blanton

“I think it means like, a way to sing music.” - Sabrina Slabaugh

“Congratulations.” - Kiersten Schwartz

Correct Answer: Italian word for “slowly, solemnly,” used in music scores to give direction to singers.

- interview by Melanie Graber

Of Camels and Canada

The brave tale of William Heron, as told to Ryan Graber

I recently sat down with camper William Heron, whose appearance was not unnoticed by the Choral Camp Record. While moving his swollen facial features so he would be able to see his interviewer, he disclosed that the culprit behind his black and blue eye and his discolored and peeling legs was a trip off campus to his native Canada. He said that Karima the Camel wanted to see a real Canadian hockey game but that the rest of the trip (which included tasting Canadian maple syrup) had to be canceled due to a stray hockey puck which nailed poor Heron in his eye. “Tell them the truth about my legs,” he said unashamedly. “I’m allergic to camel hair.” The moral of his story is this: Don’t leave campus without a counselor or with a camel.

Dodgebee: New Sport, Familiar Rules

What is that new sport they’re playing out at the sports spot during Choose-a-Spot? Frisbee? No. Dodgeball? No. It’s a combination of the two--Dodgebee! In this quick-paced game, players try to hit members of the other team with a small foam frisbee to get them “out.” Players can also catch frisbees thrown at them to record an out on the person who threw it.

The Record editor reports being drawn into a match while attempting to take photos and finding the game quite enjoyable! His only regret was continually getting beaten by a bunch of campers 1/3 his age.

So...if this is Dodgebee, what would Frisball look like?