KEN HAS TWO HEADS!

LITTLE KNOWN SECRET FINALLY REVEALED (BY HIS WIFE!)

ROSEDALE, Ohio -- Choral Campers were shocked and delighted to discover that their very own musical director, Ken Miller, has two brains! "I always knew he was smart," said Camp Pastor Conrad Showalter. "Now I see why!"

Not only does Ken have two brains, he keeps them stored in two separate heads, said his wife, Choral Camp teacher Jenny Miller. She opened up about her husband's unique mental status because she just couldn't keep it to herself any longer. "I got tired of pretending," she said. "And he's exhausted by having to keep one head hidden away all the time, tucked down under his shirt." Jenny said that he often comes home from work with "a very sore neck."

Ken graciously posed for his first-ever two-headed portrait (see left). "I'm glad to have this out in the open after all these years," he said.

Sadly, the head he ordinarily keeps under wraps doesn't appear to be getting with the program (it's the angry-looking one). "Oh, that's just the way he is," explained Ken. "He's Mad-Scientist-Math-Guy Brain, and you know how those mathematical types can be."

Ordinarily, Ken only displays Mild-Mannered-Music-Man Brain, a kinder, gentler version of Math Guy. This is the Ken we know and love, the guy who sits in his office humming strange melodies. It's also the man who leads Chorale every year without scaring his singers speechless.

Which brings up a touchy question: Is he really going to go around with two heads from now on?

"No, probably not," he said. "It's a little intense, especially for kids."

So campers, be forewarned. He looks like normal old Ken, but underneath it all, his mad, sometimes warring brains are computing and composing at a feverish pace. Don't sneak up behind him and make loud noises, or you never know what might happen!
